FIRST PHILIPPINE ASSEMBLY IS BEGUN WITH FINE SPEECH BY SEC'Y. OF WAR W. H. TAFT

Conveys Message of Good Will From Home Powers to Filipinos in Their Initial Step Toward Local Self Government

Manila, Oct. 16.—With impressive ceremonies and a magnificent speech by Secretary of War Taft, the first Philippine assembly opened today. In his opening speech Taft said: "President Roosevelt has sent me to convey to all Filipinos his congratulations upon this, another step in the enlargement of your powers and betterment for your conditions. It is his wish that you have peace among yourselves, and with the present government you should have peace."

COUNTY HEATING, LIGHTING PLANT TO BE INSTALLED

McCracken fiscal court this morning awarded a contract to install a complete electric lighting and steam heating plant for the court house and jail, to Katterjohn & Daiby for $2,494.50. Magistrates Bleich, Rawlinson, Ghosh, Burnett, Knott voted to install the plant, while Magistrates Tracy, Broadfoot and Thompson voted against it. One other Paducah firm, the Jackson Foundry and Machine company, bid $3,100.

Manager John S. Bleeker, of the Paducah Traction company, addressed the board, explaining how his company could make a reduction in both light and heat. He refused to give a flat rate on commercial lighting, however, but agreed to take the decorative lights off the meter and place them on a flat rate.

Katterjohn & Daiby said they would install a 225-light electrical plant and a steam heating plant to heat both jail and court house. If a storage battery is desired for decorative lights at night it can be installed for an additional $415. The board decided against the storage battery.

The plant is to be located back of the jail, and is to be enclosed in a concrete building. County Judge R. T. Lightfoot agreed to donate material from his concrete plant.

NO POMPADOURS GO.

Chicago Shop Girls Must Take Rats Out of Their Hair.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—There is gloom today among the army of saleswomen in Chicago's largest department stores. Doom has been pronounced on the wide-spreading pompadour which has so long adorned the heads of the women behind the counters. The ultimatum came with a sudden shock today soon after the time the clock should have ticked the arrival of the last fair worker. In one establishment alone 20 young women were unmercifully discharged without recommendations because they refused to tear down the idol of their dreams—that big pompadour.

L. D. HUSBANDS DIED AT 3 P. M.

Judge L. D. Husbands died about 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Busy Day for Bishop.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 16.—Bishop McCloskey, of Louisville, confirmed 236 children and adults here on the occasion of his present visit. This is the largest class ever confirmed here by one-half.

Clowery is Re-elected.

New York, Oct. 16.—Robert C. Clowery was re-elected president of the Western Union Telegraph company this afternoon at the annual meeting.

Burial of John L. Whittington.

Versailles, Ky., Oct. 16.—The body of John L. Whittington, who died on Saturday at Winchester, was brought here today and interred. Mr. Whittington leaves a widow and two sons, Elliott L. and Eugene Whittington, both of whom live in California.

HON. WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Grain Market.

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Wheat, 109; corn, 71½; oats, 57.

NO CONVENTION OF TELEGRAPHERS SAYS PRES. SMALL

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Callers today at the home of President Small, of the Telegraphers' union, found this sign on the door, "Don't ring the bell, walk upstairs and knock very gently." Small's wife, who has been an invalid for years, is at the point of death. Small said today there will be no convention of the union at Milwaukee October 23, as ordered by the executive committee.

MUSICIANS' UNION FIGHT.

The failure of Deal's band to appear in the Woodmen of the World parade yesterday will doubtless result in a bitter union fight among musicians in Paducah. Members of Deal's band belong to local union No. 318, American Federation of Musicians, and refused to play with Jackson's band, which is non-union. It is understood that fights in several unions will be made because union tradesmen marched in the parade behind a non-union band.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The most violent earthquake record ever made on the seismograph at the weather bureau started at 9:14 this morning. Vibrations of the needle were even greater than those caused by the San Francisco earthquake. Weather officials momentarily are expecting news that somewhere in the world an unusually severe disturbance occurred.

Everybody Seems to be Delighted Over Result of The Second Day's Registration---What They Said

Democrats Did Not Make up Advantage Gained by the Republicans the First Day, in a Poll 1725 Greater Than That of Last Year

Everybody seems to be delighted with the total registration of the two days this year. Republicans say the Democrats did not make a proportionate gain, as compared with the increase in the poll; Democrats say they got out as many as they expected yesterday and their percentage was greater than that of the Republicans, compared with the first day, while all citizens are delighted with a registration that brings out 1,743 more voters than last year, and 1,000 more than four years ago, the latter data indicating a gratifying increase in the population.

The grand total registration yesterday was 951. Republicans, 364; Democrats, 534; Independents, 1.

Last year, with a total registration of 3,415, the Democrats led by 672. This year with a total registration of 5,140 they lead by 53, showing that while the total registration has increased, the Democrats have not retained their relative lead; the point being that the greater the total vote, the greater proportionately must be the majority of the leading party to maintain its advantage.

The Republicans expect to get a big Democratic vote, as it has always been the experience that the Democrats do not carry their full strength by 10 per cent at the polls, while there are more than 100 Republicans yet to be registered.

Concerning the outlook, Alderman E. E. Bell, Republican chairman, said:

"It is gratifying. The Democrats did not make up the gain we secured on the first day, and with a largely increased registration, we cut the majority on poll sharply. Then, too, the registration is more accurate and perfect than it ever has been before. Of course, we did not expect to lead in the registration. We always do get a big Democratic vote, and with the independent vote, the indicated Democratic majority is too small to be depended on, without considering the scratching that is promised.

"We have something like a hundred out of the city on both registration days, who will qualify for voting by swearing to the facts."

"The Democratic committee concedes us 250 of their votes, and that cuts away 500 of their lead, without counting the 161 Independents, 90 per cent of which belongs to us. I am confident we shall get at least 500 and perhaps 1,000 of their registered votes. Their gains from our side will be practically nothing. You can judge for yourself where I place the minimum of Smith's majority. There is nothing to say how big it will go."

City Attorney Tom Harrison, Democratic candidate for mayor, is confident, or says he is.

"We will beat Mr. Smith from 350 to 500," he said this morning. "It may go to 800. The registration was perfectly satisfactory, except that we have about 100 votes to get out at the supplemental registration. The registration shows the normal majority."

Small Blaze Put Out.

The No. 1 fire company was called to the residence of Prof. J. D. Smith Third and Madison streets, this morning to extinguish small blaze, which threatened our houses. Hot ashes caught the fence, and after fighting the fire for nearly an hour unsuccessfully, the family called the firemen. A small section of the fence was burned, and damage will amount to little.

BUTTER IS SCARCE.

The scarcity of butter has caused the prices to soar skyward on the Paducah market, country butter, the good grade of which is almost unobtainable selling for 30 and 35 cents a pound, while 40 cents a pound is asked for creamy butter. Dealers say that the staple is so scarce that even higher prices are expected before winter sets in.

STREET CAR WRECK.

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Harry Bausch was killed and 20 injured, several seriously, in a wreck of an Elberon avenue car this morning. The motorman is reported to have lost control of his car at a steep grade. At a curve the car jumped the track and turned over down a bank, landing ten feet below. Six people were buried in the wreckage. The injured mostly are women, and the men were able to slide from under the outside rail, the car being an open one.

SECOND CASE OF INFANTICIDE CAUSES CORONER AND POLICE TO GET BUSY ON ONLY CLEW

Mrs. R. W. Chiles, of Rescue Mission Finds Dying Child on Door Step This Morning.

Police are looking for a man who telephoned the Union Rescue mission on South Third street this morning at 5:20 o'clock, and when he is found, and his identity has been established, charges of murder doubtless will be preferred against him. He will be charged with leaving a girl baby, sparingly wrapped, lay within. The baby was cold, having been there fully an hour, and I warmed it back to life. Failure to secure a doctor at once probably hastened the end, the child dying shortly after I rescued it.

Mrs. R. W. Chiles, wife of the minister, who conducts the Rescue mission, was awakened at 4:20 o'clock this morning by resounding knocks on the door of the chapel. Mr. Chiles is away from the city, having left yesterday on a home seekers' excursion for the west, and two women were Mrs. Chiles' companions. She feared that some drunken man was at the door, but rose and investigated. Mrs. Chiles heard no noise when she reached the door, and fearing to open it, retired again, but not to sleep.

"About 5:20 o'clock my telephone rang violently and I rose to answer. 'Have you opened that front door yet?' a deep masculine voice inquired. Mrs. Chiles stated:

"I told him that I had not. 'Well, you had better open it, for there's a dead man out there,' he stated in conclusion.

THIEVES DRIVE IN, TEAR DOWN FENCE AND STEAL COAL

Thieves reached "the end of the limit" in boldness last evening, when they drove a team of horses into an alley in the rear of Mrs. John Waynick's residence, 809 South Fourth street, at 8 o'clock, tore down half the back fence, and helped themselves to 25 bushels of coal. Mrs. Waynick and family attended church, leaving home shortly after dusk, and neighbors, residing directly back of her home noticed the men drive in and tear away the fence. They presumed they had been instructed to do so, and that Mrs. Waynick was selling the coal, and did not interfere.

Coal is delivered to the Waynick residence through a driveway in the front yard, leading from Fourth street, there being no back gate. A description of the thieves and their team is in the hands of police, who are investigating the case.

BURNAM ELECTED G. JUNIOR WARDEN KENTUCKY SYND

Louisville, Oct. 16.—(Special)—R. R. Burnam, of Richmond, was elected grand junior warden of the Kentucky lodge of Masons. Other officers are Henry Barrett, of Henderson, grand master; Virgil Smith, Somerset, deputy grand master; John Cowles, of Louisville, grand senior warden.

The proposed amendment to the constitution of the Kentucky grand lodge of Masons, introduced by Mr. James Wilhelmi, of Paducah, to bar liquor men from the order, was withdrawn and a substitute, not so drastic, offered.

RECKLESS HUNTERS OUT.

A belated report of a narrow escape from a tragedy is spurring Paducah sportsmen to action against hunters out of season, and Game Warden John Dean is on the alert for such violators of the law.

While Virgil Chastaine, a well known plumber, was walking Sunday afternoon on the Cairo road near the Perkin's creek bridge, a gun shot rang out and scattering shot whizzed past his head, some coming so close that he could feel the wind from them. Chastaine dodged before the second shot, fired in quick succession. He saw no marksman, but observed smoke coming from a cluster of bushes at the side of the road. A hunter had shot at a covey of quail Chastaine had flushed by his appearance.

Kentucky Synod.

Midway, Ky., Oct. 16.—(Special)—Rev. T. M. Hawes was elected moderator and W. W. Akers reading clerk of the Southern Presbyterian Kentucky Synod here.

Louisville, Oct. 16.—(Special)—Marion Marlin killed himself on account of the failure of his wife to make up with him. This was the third suicide within 36 hours here. William Gieger, 17 years old, killed himself last night over a love affair.

THEATRICAL NOTES

AT THE KENTUCKY.

Thursday — Helen Grantley in Clyde Fitch's "Woman in the Case." Saturday — (matinee and night) Porter J. White's "Faust."

"Lena Rivers" Tonight.

Announcement that "Lena Rivers" will be offered at The Kentucky this evening, naturally brings a thrill of joy to the hearts of our play-goers. The book of the same name from which the dramatization is made is by Mrs. Mary J. Holmes, which assures a first-class play with plenty of comedy and a profusion of tears. A crowded house is almost a certainty. The company includes: Beulah Poynter as "Lena," Burton Nixon, Alice Lindley, Ted Armond, Eleanor Marion, Sadie Steelsmith, Elizabeth Blanke, Raymond Ketchum, Edward Siebert, Nettie Louden, Charles Pollock, Harry Brestel and James Hill.

The Famous Third Act.

It is many months since so much interest has been taken in a coming theatrical event as is being shown in the appearance of Helen Grantley at The Kentucky next Thursday evening in Clyde Fitch's latest and perhaps greatest play, "The Woman in the Case." In New York the play was seen for 300 nights and it comes here with the official stamp of metropolitan approval. The play has a third act which has become famous. Of this act the New York Sun says: "It developed a situation the like of which has not been seen on our stage in respect of absorbing, of thrilling interest since the famous third act of 'The Gay Lord Quex.' Surge after surge of applause followed the curtain and made it evident that this particular woman will remain in this particular case as long as the present theatrical season holds." This prophecy of the New York Sun was literally carried out.

NEW YORK LETTER.

New York, Oct. 16.—Now that the first stage of the new theatrical season is past it is possible to get a pretty clear line on the shows which will endure and those which will have to be relegated to the storage house. Each fall brings its quota of new plays, and it witnesses the continuation of those of preceding seasons which have "made good" and which are considered "sure things" from past achievements. Among the new things which have caught the popular fancy strongly Klaw & Erlanger's big western play, "The Roundup," appears to stand out conspicuously. The Rogers Brothers have scored an unmistakable hit in their new piece, "The Rogers Brothers in Panama," and Francis Wilson will probably remain in New York all season, so great has been the success of his new comedy, "When Knights Were Bold." Lew Fields has caught New York strongly with his production of "The Girl Behind the Counter" and Charles Frohman's new musical comedy production, "The Dairymaids," is an immense hit at the Criterion. Of the hold-overs from last season, the musical comedy, "Coming Thro' the Rye," appears to lead in the matter of receipts. This production made so much money last season that the managers, without any particular necessity, invested upward of $25,000 in a new scene and costume equipment, secured Frank Lator to play his original part in spite of the fact that he had arranged to star in a new piece this season, and proceeded to surround Lator with a larger and much more expensive cast than formerly. The result is that the popular musical comedy is packing theaters to the walls everywhere and making a greater hit than ever. About the same conditions surround the Rork company's big extravaganza, "The Land of Nod." It is breaking all records for attendance in the south, and the reports that have reached New York show that the beautiful production is creating something like a sensation by its magnitude and completeness. Derman Thompson has come back to New York with his "Old Homestead" and is crowding the big Academy of Music to the doors. David Warfield has made another ten strike in Belasco's new play, "A Grand Army Man," and Raymond Hitchcock is doing so well in "A Yankee Tourist" at the Astor theater that his engagement has been extended to January 1. It is reported that Wright Lorimer is having a struggle on the road with his new play, "The Guleksands," and the latest Broadway production, "The Gay White Way," which was brought out at the Casino a few nights ago, is put down by the critics generally as a flat failure—and so it goes.

FRISCO CROWD WRECKS JAPANESE LAUNDRY.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—As a result of an attack on a Japanese laundry the proprietor and one of his employees are in the Emergency hospital, and many whites are nursing bruises caused by the clubs of the police, and the exterior of the laundry is a wreck.

The trouble was occasioned by Joseph King, an intoxicated logger who crashed into the window of the laundry conducted by Umekubo and Omura.

The proprietor and others rushed out and dragged King into a rear room, where he was placed in charge of a young Japanese while the other Japanese hurried to summon the police.

TIMELY TIPS TO RHEUMATICS.

Medical Expert Gives Simple Directions for the Cure of Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

The well-known physician, Dr. George Edmund Flood, states that rheumatism and the more frequent forms of Kidney and Bladder troubles are largely due to errors in diet and the general mode of life.

Dr. Flood cautions all who have Rheumatism or Kidney and Bladder ailments to be moderate in the consumption of heavy, rich foods. A good diet will be found in soups, broths, fresh milk and plenty of water. "You should," says Dr. Flood, "take plenty of time to eat and immediately cease eating when your stomach tells you that you have had enough, even though your palate may still ask for more. If your work is confining a moderate amount of exercise, taken each day in the open air, will be of great benefit."

Dr. Flood wishes it understood, however, that careful diet will not alone suffice to cure these ailments, although it proves of invaluable assistance. Dr. Flood has achieved great success in his practice in the treatment of Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder troubles, and for the benefit of our readers he has consented to our reproduction in this column of the complete prescription which contributed so greatly to his success. Dr. Flood says that this prescription is the most certain cure for the diseases which we have mentioned that he has ever come across in many years of busy practice.

Here is the prescription: Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic,  $\frac{1}{2}$  oz. Concentrated Barkola Comp'd. 1 oz. Aromatic Elixir ..... 4 oz.

Adult dose: One teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals. This prescription can be filled by any druggist, anywhere, or, better still, get the ingredients yourself and mix them at home by shaking them up in a bottle.

VANDERBILT WEDDING STILL ON.

Postponement Rumor is Denied By Friends of the Family.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 16.—Friends of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt today declared the report that the wedding of Gladys Vanderbilt to Count Szekely had been indefinitely postponed to be groundless. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, mother of the prospective bride, declined today to be interviewed.

It is understood that a question has arisen whether it would be better to have the wedding take place at New York instead of at Newport.

Miss Vanderbilt and Count Szekely were driving together in this city today. The count has been indisposed at the Vanderbilt farm in Portsmouth with slight symptoms of ptomaine poisoning.

PART AS GOOD FRIENDS AFTER TWO MONTHS' TRIAL MARRIAGE

Belchertown, Mass., Oct. 16.—After two months' experiment with trial marriage, Elmer Thayer, a trapper, and Mrs. Abbie Aboycrombie, a widow, have decided to give it up. Thayer said his erstwhile companion was a good housekeeper and an excellent cook, but would not accompany him on his hunting trips. Mrs. Aboycrombie says she was not taken riding as often as she wished, and that Mr. Thayer did not get up early at night as he might have.

They parted the best of friends, however, and Mr. Thayer will try another of the 400 applicants for the position from whom he heard.

McCracken Doctors Meet.

The meeting of the McCracken County Medical society last night was well attended and a most interesting session was held. The meeting was held with Dr. Blythe, who led the discussion with a paper on "Concussion of the Brain and Its Treatment." Dr. Horace Rivers read a paper on "Fracture of the Skull."

Mrs. Knicker—Couldn't you keep the cook? Mrs. Boker—No, our bridge afternoons were the same—New York Sun.

Reconciliation is Newport Talk.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 16.—The air about Newport is full of stories about the reconciliation of Mrs. Vanderbilt and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and of a disagreement between Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Szekely and the possibility that the engagement has been broken.

Coupled with the latter story is the report of the opposition of several members of the Vanderbilt family to the marriage of Miss Gladys with any foreigner, and that her sister, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney being the most vigorous objectors to the alliance. While it is impossible to verify these stories by inquiries at the Vanderbilt villa, there is apparently good grounds for belief that they are in a measure correct.

Story as to Reconciliation.

The story of the supposed reconciliation, as near as can be ascertained, is as follows: Mrs. Vanderbilt invited Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., to Saturday night's dinner at the Breakers in honor of the engagement. Mr. Vanderbilt yielded to his mother's wishes and those of his sister and accepted the invitation, but Mrs. Vanderbilt decided she could not attend. She is said to have made the decision on the grounds that the elder Mrs. Vanderbilt never had called upon her since her marriage and that she did not feel as if she could go to the Breakers until her mother-in-law had called upon her. She therefore declined the invitation to the Breakers dinner, but arranged a luncheon for Sunday at Beaulieu, to which Mrs. Vanderbilt senior was invited. It thus remained for the mistress of the Breakers to take the step which her daughter-in-law wished her to make.

The luncheon was held at Beaulieu and Mrs. Vanderbilt was present. Thus the ice was broken. Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., had succeeded in having her mother-in-law come to her house for Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., had remained steadfast to her determination and the victory at last was given the younger Vanderbilt family. This apparently settles the difficulty between these two branches of the family.

Cornelius Not at Dinner.

Sunday evening Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt gave a dinner in honor of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt's engagement.

It is said that London produces over 200 new designs in "penny toys" every week.

TAFT'S TRIP MAY SHAPE PHILIPPINE'S DESTINY.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Part of Secretary Taft's survey of the Philippines—and it may turn out its effect on the destiny of the islands—will determine whether, in his opinion, the native mind and character can encounter the test of direct responsibility. Taft is expected to form a judgment which will have for a century, a general direction for the policy of the United States if American control is to endure for that period.

OLD BEER
HAS BEEN ON ICE FOR FOURTEEN YEARS IN STORAGE.

Chemist Wiley, of Government Service, is About to Release Rare
Old Steak.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Uncle Sam's wizard in chemistry, is about to release from captivity a side of beef that has been held in a refrigerating plant for more than fourteen years. This is the story:

Two years ago, Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, inaugurated a series of experiments with a view to determining the nutritive value of meat, game, poultry, eggs, butter, milk, cream, and other food products kept in cold storage for indefinite periods. The results are about to be placed in the form of a report, which will be submitted to congress at its coming session. These experiments demonstrate, it is understood, that it is unsafe to eat foods that have been kept on ice for three months or longer.

"When we started these experiments," said Dr. Wiley today, "notice of our intention was sent broadcast to the managers of refrigerating plants. One of them in Cleveland informed the department that he had a side of beef that had been in refrigeration for more than twelve years. We asked the Cleveland man to contribute it for use in our scheme of experimentation. He did."

Section 1591, of the Kentucky statutes further provides:—"That this chapter shall be liberally construed, so as to prevent any evasions of its prohibitions and penalties by shift or device." And further requires, that violations of these laws shall be "given specially in charge to the grand jury of every county first convened after any general election."

The executive committee of the Republican party in Paducah have information that attempts have been made to purchase registration certificates in this election, and are preparing the evidence necessary to convict the offenders on warrants to be taken out before the committing magistrates of the city.

SOCIETY GIRL A KLEPTOMANIA.
Suspicion in Convent Robbery Directed Toward Rich Student.

Washington, Oct. 15.—A member of a wealthy family prominent in Washington society is believed to be a victim of kleptomania and to have been responsible for the mysterious robbery at the Georgetown convent a week ago. The sister superior discovered that all the jewelry belonging to the girl students and several hundred dollars of the funds of the convent had been stolen from her desk, where it was placed for safe-keeping. The police struggled with the case in vain until today, when they were requested by the convent authorities to drop the case. It is reported that the sister superior has been furnished evidence tending to prove that the girl in question, aware of the valuable contents of the desk could not resist stealing them, although she is supplied with plenty of money by her family. The convent authorities are determined to shield her, it is said, and most of the stolen property has been recovered. The police, however, say that the guilty person must be punished and refuse to drop the case.

Hard Times in Kansas.
The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamborg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle

Fells Tree, Confesses, Fined.
New York, Oct. 16.—"I no tella da lie, boss; I choppa da tree down with ma hatch."

Standing before Magistrate Steers
today in Fifth avenue court, Brooklyn, Pasquale Rosaka, an Italian, made this honest confession. He had been arrested for chopping down a small cherry tree in Dyker park, intending to take it home for firewood.
His frankness did not avail, as the magistrate fined him $10.

"George da Wash no-tella da lie and gitta da pat on da back. I no tella da lie and gitta stung good," wailed Pasquale in disgust as he counted out the money.

Out of Sight.
"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by all druggists icehouse for the last two years will not, therefore, be fed to the poison squad. Their condition will be tested by the chief chemist and his assistants refrigerator plant in the first instance the tissues of the meat were carefully measured, and since have been remeasured at intervals.

ATTEMPT TO PURCHASE
REGISTRATION CERTIFICATES

A Penitentiary Offense—Both Purchaser and Seller Guilty.

Subsection 15, of section 1583 of the Kentucky statutes provides, that "Any person or persons, who shall attempt to prevent, or prevent, any voter from casting his ballot, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction, be confined in the penitentiary for a period of years, or not less than one nor more than five years for each offence."

Section 1591, of the Kentucky
statutes further provides:—"That
this chapter shall be liberally construed, so as to prevent any evasions
of its prohibitions and penalties by shift or device." And further requires, that violations of these laws
shall be "given specially in charge to the grand jury of every county first
convened after any general election."

Every attempt to purchase a registration certificate is an attempt to prevent a voter from casting his ballot, and renders the offender liable to the penitentiary penalty. And every voter who receives money or other thing of value for his registration certificate, does so for the purpose of influencing his vote, is guilty of being bribed, and is liable to the penalty fixed by the law.

Section 1591, of the Kentucky
statutes further provides:—"That
this chapter shall be liberally construed, so as to prevent any evasions
of its prohibitions and penalties by
shift or device." And further requires, that violations of these laws
shall be "given specially in charge to
the grand jury of every county first
convened after any general election."

The executive committee of the Republican party in Paducah have information that attempts have been made to purchase registration certificates in this election, and are preparing the evidence necessary to convict the offenders on warrants to be taken out before the committing magistrates of the city.

"I will not," said Dr. Wiley emphatically.
"Why not?" he was asked.
"We will first try it on the dog," he replied with a smile.

Then Dr. Wiley explained. Meat and other foods, if appearances are to be accepted, may be kept in cold storage for long periods without an apparent degradation in their nutritive value of quality. But between the time they are removed from a refrigerator and the time they are prepared to be fed ptomaine or alkaloidal bodies may develop that would make them fatal if taken into the human stomach.

An All Day Cigar.

Cigars a foot and a half long,
which are made for one day's smoking, were yesterday placed on view in the American Museum of Natural History. With them is a holder which looks like a tuning fork and is large enough to be used for pitching hay.

Far up the Rio Nigra, a tributary of the Amazon, two explorers, Henry Schmidt and Louis Wise, made a collection of articles for the museum.
The Indians there made cigars eighteen inches long and as big around as a child's arm. One of these cigars is too much for any easy-loving man to clasp, so the Indians put the fragrant roll between the tines of a fork two and a half feet long, stick the sharp end of the handle into the ground at a convenient distance from their hammocks, and take a puff from time to time as they sway lazily backward and forward.

There are many other picturesque articles in the collection, which was made during a three months' journey from the coast. The material of the highest value, and nothing like it has been seen except a few articles in a German museum.—New York Herald.

THE REIGN OF LAW IN KENTUCKY.

Was it the irony of a jocular Providence that caused the editor of The Sun to read an editorial reply in the News-Democrat to The Sun's query, "What will Democratic success mean?" and then pick up the last issue of Collier's weekly and read Richard Washburn Child's story, "The Boss of Breathitt, the story of a Kentucky county and its overlord?"

Whether or not it was, it is left to the reader to guess; for here is what we read in the News-Democrat:

"What does the success of the Democratic mean?—The Sun.

"It means the reign of law in our beloved commonwealth and the striking down of lawlessness in all its hideous forms where 'ere it raises its gaudy head. In short, it means the continuation of good government, that condition dear to the heart of every man who loves his home, his fireside and his fellow men."

Coller's says:

Judge James Hargis, charged with three murders, proprietor with his brother of the "Mannheim Department Store" in Jackson, Kentucky, was acquitted the other day at Sandy Hook of the charge of procuring the death of Dr. B. D. Cox. The trial vividly illustrated the grip that Hargis has on Breathitt county, and indicated an influence that extends beyond the county's borders to the state house at Frankfort. His followers believe that he can procure a pardon for any one whose political complexion is right.

One of the three victims in Jackson was Dr. Cox. Hargis was indicted for procuring his murder. At first it was attempted to hold the trial in Jackson, but the farce, arranged as usual by Hargis to travesty a criminal trial, proved to be too stimulating. It was necessary to call in troops to protect the special judge who, through Hargis' influence, had been appointed to try the case. Then Hargis, reversing his usual statement that Breathitt is a law-abiding place, contended strenuously that on account of the lawlessness of Breathitt he could not secure a fair trial in that county.

"So the case was brought to Sandy Hook. A stranger wonders why Kentucky has never heard of Sandy Hook," said a witness. "And I don't believe that Sandy Hook has ever heard of Kentucky," replies another. The town has twenty-odd buildings and a tiny, box-like county courthouse which looks like a modest library stable. Perhaps a hundred people live there. There is no telegraph line. There are thirty miles of unspeakable roads between the courthouse and the railway. Mail comes twice a week. Inaccessible, and surrounded by a wilderness, it would seem impossible that a serious judicial drama could be played there. But to the wise the reason was plain. Another such outcome was to be avoided as that at Jackson, where Special Judge "Old Bill" Carnes had conducted one trial in such a way as to excite the citizens to indignant protest.

"Against this James Hargis, who in the hot July sunlight sauntered up and down in front of the little courthouse in Sandy Hook, there was evidence sufficient to convict a half-dozen defendants, were that many being tried with Powers, for complicity in the murder of Goebel. Even many consciously impelled to co-operate with the teacher in training the youth. In every country school there is a "star" pupil, and he is a real star, his aspirations fixed high and his hopes held above the temptations that beset youthful feet in our cities.

Lack of attention to the individual needs of pupils is the one weakness of our city school systems, and a condition necessary, because of the number of pupils taught by each teacher and the inelastic nature of the graded course. The parents must supply this deficiency. They must supplement the work of the school room with home training, and they can supplement the work only by first getting acquainted with the teacher and the methods.

WORLD PUT BENCHES IN HOUSE.

Boutell Arraigns Congress for Combining Business and Debate.

Washington, Oct. 16.—"Our congress is the only legislative body in the world, so far as I am informed, where an attempt is made to combine business with debate," said Representative Boutell, of Chicago. "Such a physical effort is necessary to make one's self heard upon the floor that great confusion exists and only the most experienced can carry on an argument; there is every reason why we should remove the desks and substitute benches. We have a new office building where each member will have a room in which to write his letters and dispose of his official business the hall of the house may well be given over to executive business. The galleries could then be enlarged."

Teddy's Cold Swim.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 16.—At 6 o'clock last night no news of the president's day's hunt had been received here. Brutus Jackson, the negro hunter, who went to Newellton to locate a camp there last week when it was decided to go there, returned to-day and brought a fresh supply of bear dogs with him, and an effort is being made to secure even more from the same source to take the place of the animals on hand, which are becoming much jaded.

Arrivals from the Bear lake encampment tell marvelous stories of the president's hardihood and capacity for roughing it. When he carried his blankets with him from the upper camp last Friday, and that night and next morning ate only the cold bread and meat he had taken in his saddlepockets, they marveled that a president could be so easily satisfied, but when he jumped into Bear lake for a swim upon rising at daybreak this morning their astonishment was almost without bounds.

The thermometer registered at the time less than 40 degrees and most of the others present were sedulously hugging the camp fire. The president plunged into the water as soon as he arose. As he approached the edge of the lake he bantered some of the other members of his immediate party to join him but none did so. He swam a distance of a hundred yards to an island and then returned, declaring upon landing that the exercise had been most exhilarating and that the water was warmer than the air.

"It was natural enough that they had asked for time in which to get their witnesses to inaccessible Sandy Hook. But Judge Moody put off a decision upon this question until a jury had been sworn. And now, leaning over the white water pitcher, he refused to consider it. A large gander, the pet of Sandy Hook, waddled past the door of the court room and squawked down the steps. The attorneys for the prosecution withdrew from the case. The jury listened to the drone of a bee which had invaded this humble hall of justice. Behold then! Judge Moody speaks. The curtain is about to drop. Judge Hargis examines his thumb. For all that Moody can find to do in this situation is to direct the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal."

"He talks to his auto just like it could understand him."

"Yes, I heard him talking to it the other day when it refused to go."—Houston Post.

What Osteopathy Is.

The question is often asked, "What is Osteopathy?" for some people have a very vague idea of this new science that is doing so much to aid mankind.

Osteopathy, when well digested, is nothing but good sense and reason.

It is a method for treating disease by manipulation, to restore the normal condition of the nerve control and the blood supply to every organ of the body by removing the physical obstructions, or by stimulating, or checking, functional activity, as the conditions may require.

A diseased body is caused by some interference to a working part of the organism, and a correction of it brings restored health. Therefore, osteopathy finds the disturbance and, righting it, effects its cure.

Some of the diseases in which osteopathic treatment has been the most effective are headaches of all kinds, nervous disorders, malaria and bilious, tired down and fagged out conditions, indigestion in its many forms, kidney troubles, neuralgia and rheumatism. It treats successfully however, nearly all diseases. If you are ailing, no matter what your particular trouble may be, I should like to have you call and let me tell you why Osteopathy will cure in your special case. I do not claim that Osteopathy is a cure-all, but am frank and will tell you what it will do in any individual case, at the same time referring you to people you know, who will gladly tell you what the treatment has done for them.

USE POLAR BEARS TO DRAW SLEDGES TO NORTH POLE.

New York, Oct. 16.—That he would try for the north pole in 1910, with polar bears to draw his sledges on the final dash, was stated by Capt. Ronald Amundsen, navigator of the north magnetic pole, who arrived today on the Oscar II from Christiania.

Capt. Amundsen, who traversed the polar regions from the Atlantic to the Pacific in the Gjoa, a 49-ton sloop, says that he will set apart five years in which to complete his voyage to the pole, for in his opinion it can be done in no shorter time.

"I expect to provision my ship for six years at least, and I do not think that I could reach the goal and return for five years after starting. I will enter the northern waters in September or October."

When Capt. Amundsen was asked concerning the kind of vessel he would build he said that all he asked for was the Fram, used by Nansen, for he considered that ship as good as any that could be constructed for the purpose.

KILLED HIS MOTHER.

Kansas City boy shoots at Burglar, but misses him.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 16.—George Smiley, aged 17, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Lizzie Schoifer, aged 42 in their home at 2943 Myrtle avenue at 3:30 o'clock this morning. In a statement to the officers Smiley says he shot his mother in defending her against a burglar. He is being held for investigation.

Smiley said he had been awakened by the screams of his mother, who told him there was a burglar in the house. The woman had grappled with the man and urged Smiley to get his shotgun. A moment later the burglar had freed himself and was making an attempt to escape when Mrs. Schoifer ordered Smiley to shoot. As Smiley raised the gun and fired, the burglar, he says, pushed the woman in front of him.

He received the full effect of the discharge, dying within a few moments.

DIRECT PRIMARY WITH PLURALITY

Will do Away With Party Conventions and Bosses

Illinois Bill Provides for Election Committees By Popular Vote of Parties.

DRASTIC MEASURES PROPOSED

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—Representative John G. Oglesby, chairman of the primary law committee of the house of representatives, tomorrow will introduce a direct plurality primary bill which would make political conventions things of the past in Illinois, and place all nominations for all offices directly in the hands of the people. Mr. Oglesby and Attorney General Stead have drawn the law, and they, with Cleo J. Lindy, chairman of the house steering committee, revised it this afternoon. Mr. Stead, according to the two representatives, has pronounced it legally flawless, and if the legislature wants to eliminate conventions from politics it will have a chance to do so.

The bill, if taken seriously, will cause a titanic political spasm in Chicago, and will throw the esteemed states into a permanent condition of fits. It will be a bitter pill even for the house, but the representatives may have to pass it. Speaker Shurtliff is not in love with the idea, but is not likely to oppose it, and so many Democrats and Republicans in the house have formed a holy alliance with the cause of direct primaries that they may not be able to sidestep them when a chance is given to pass such a bill.

It provides for the election of party committeemen by a direct vote and for the nomination of candidates for all offices from township to state by the people directly. It also provides for the election of national convention delegates and alternates by direct vote, and national conventions are the only delegate gatherings which it recognizes in any form.

Direct as a Rifle Shot.

Its "directness" is the most appalling thing Illinois politicians have been given a look at since primary legislation began to be talked of, and there does not seem to be much excuse for its not getting the support of statesmen who have been talking of direct primaries as things natural and dear to them.

What will happen to it remains to be seen. There still are people who have not lost all confidence in the ability of the Illinois general assembly to find a way out of difficulties, in spite of this hangover session.

The bill provides for three primaries, two for municipal and township nominations and one for all nominations for the November elections. The last primary is fixed for the last Saturday in April. For Chicago municipal nominations and for nominations in other cities electing city officers the first Tuesday in April a primary election is fixed for the last Saturday in February, and for cities electing on the third Tuesday in April a primary is fixed for the second Tuesday in March. Candidates for state offices have their names placed on the primary ballot on filing petitions containing not more than 2,000 nor less than 1,000 signatures. Candidates for the United States senate may have their names submitted to an advisory vote of the people by filing petitions of not more than 5,000 nor less than 3,000 names.

A maximum as well as a minimum limit is fixed to prevent the circulating of big petitions for political effect. For all other candidates a petition of one-half of 1 per cent of the total vote is required.

Political Parties Defined.

Parties which have polled 2 per cent of the total vote of the state or district in which they wish to nominate are considered political parties within the operation of the act.

The candidates receiving the highest vote of voters of their party at the primaries thereby become the candidate of the party. No conventions would be held. The party platforms would be drafted by the state central committee of each party, the committeemen having the privilege of calling the candidates into conference with them on this subject.

The party organization is also placed directly in the hands of the voter. County committees would consist of a representative from each precinct, elected by the vote of his party in his precinct. Two precinct officials would be elected in every precinct, and the one elected by the highest vote would become the precinct captain and the representative of the precinct on the county committee.

How It Affects Cook.

In Cook county such a scheme of representation would make a county central committee of 1,382 members for each party. The Republican committee now is composed of 41 members. Mr. Oglesby says it is realized that such a scheme of representation would be cumbersome beyond description in Chicago, but that it would not be in other counties, and that the provisions of the law must be uniform for all the state. He suggested that the Cook county organization could remove the difficulty by vesting the managing power in an executive committee elected by the precinct representatives, one for each ward, and still further centralize power by electing a managing committee from the members of the executive committee.

The state committee would remain as at present organized, one from each congressional district, but elected by the vote of the people. Senatorial and congressional committeemen would consist of the chairmen of county central committees in districts composed of more than one county, or county committeemen in counties which are senatorial districts in themselves, or of precinct representatives in counties which comprise two or more districts.

It is required that the members of the state committee meet in Springfield 30 days after the primaries and organize by electing officers. Candidates for the committees and for place as delegates to national conventions would have their names printed on the ballots on filing of petitions with 100 signatures, except in the case of precinct representatives, in which case the names would not be printed on the ballot, but would be written on them by the voters. It is freely admitted by legislators in Springfield that the bill is beautifully direct, but they do not say it will be passed.

HOW THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Hon. John K. Hendrick, who is now the Democratic nominee for attorney general, and who is the ablest speaker on the Democratic ticket, was a candidate for governor against Governor Beckham four years ago and made a speech at Nicholaville in which he scored the governor for his machine methods and extravagance with the people's money. Among other good things he said:

Machine Politics.

"Let us pause and think for a moment. Mr. Goebel was nominated on the twenty-first day of June, 1899, and Mr. Beckham was nominated in July, 1900. These conventions were at least early enough for all practical purposes. But after the governor had smothered the committee with official honors, as I have already indicated, at his suggestion they concluded to call a snap primary election in order to force off opposition to their patron saint, who had showered so many official blessings upon them, and they gave to candidates who desired to seek preference from their fellow-citizens, 120 days in which to canvass 119 counties. And the governor exclaims, 'Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in harmony and peace.' But, for fear that this snap primary would not deter persons who might desire to oppose his majesty, the committee for the first time in the history of the Democratic party, created a money standard of qualification, and for the first time within the history of the party has said to the aspiring young men of Kentucky that they need not apply for official preference unless they can afford the price. I appeal to the young men of the state to line up against such machine methods and aristocratic tendencies if they desire in the future to seek honors at the hands of their party. There was a time in the history of the great Commoner of Kentucky, Henry Clay, the 'Mill Boy of the Slashes,' of Abraham Lincoln, the Rail Splitter; Stephen A. Douglas, the cabinet minister; Andrew Johnson, the tailor, when neither of them could have paid the price under the arbitrary decree of the committee, for the privilege of running for office in the state of Kentucky. These great benefactors of mankind, who have glorified the history of Kentucky, were once as poor as the poorest boy now in our commonwealth—but by pluck and energy and honesty they reached the highest positions with the gift of the people—not one of them would ever have been heard of in politics if the methods of this machine committee had dominated political parties in their day. Every young man in the state owes it to himself to rebuke Beckham for thus trying to convert the party of the people into a machine-dominated, pot-house politician-ridden party. Is it wrong that I should refer to them with the deepest sorrow?"

The Calhoun Fee.

Speaking of the enormous fee of $90,000 paid to C. C. Calhoun for collecting $1,300,000 from the government Mr. Hendrick said: "Let the distinguished gentleman no longer dodge, but explain to the taxpayers why he and Calhoun entered into a contract to 'sandbag' the taxpayers out of this enormous sum of money. There is one other item among many, while I am on this subject, that I will call upon His Excellency to explain. The United States government recently passed an act to pay the Spanish-American soldiers who enlisted from Kentucky for the time elapsing between their enlistment and the date of their being mustered into service, and allotted to Kentucky $150,000, to be paid to her soldier boys, and not to C. C. Calhoun. The governor, after he was notified of this, through that strange and inexplicable attachment between him and Calhoun sent Calhoun after the money, which was received and brought to Frankfort, and deposited, not to the credit of the state treasurer, but to the personal credit of J. C. W. Beckham, without bond, and when it was paid out, about $18,000 was retained. Who got it definitely alone can tell. Let the governor explain this, and then I will oblige the people and likewise the governor, by furnishing some other information, which I am loath to disclose without being forced to the point, as to what became of a part of it. As this money was being distributed to the poor sol-

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-cleanser, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passage, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder—curing a large per cent of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nose, lungs, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach, etc., (coughs, dyspepsia), bowels, (as mucous diarrhea, bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs), the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections, it is often successful in affecting cures.

"Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of cases—those peculiar weaknesses, languor, debility and irregularities incident to women. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what their age, it is a great boon. "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quotations from the leading medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools in practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into "Doctor Pierce's Remedies" by such writers should have more weight than an amount of non-professional testimony because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secreting, contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of volatile extracts of the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any other.

Taking Her Pick.

The following was told at a smoker recently, and it is not so bad, either. The narrator told of another little feed he once attended where eight men were sent home in one hack; and the driver simply rang the doorbell and when a feminine voice called from an upper window, "Who is there?" the John replied, "Missus, will you be so kind as to come down and pick out your baby?"—October Lippincott's.

When an article has been on the market for years and gains friends every year, it is safe to call it a medicine, a worthy one. Such is Ballard's Horse-hound Syrup. We owe this to Ballard's Horse-hound Syrup. I know it has saved my children from many sick spells." Sold by J. H. Oehlschlaeger, Lang Bros. and C. O. Ripley.

A Rock In the Baltic

By ROBERT BARR.

Alarms," "Speculations of John Steele," "The Victors," Etc.*

Copyright, 1895, by Robert Barr

ELL No. 1 was a great improvement on No. 9. There was no shelf of rock or stone bench, but a cot bed in the corner, a table and a wooden chair. The living spring issued from the living rock in a corner of the room. When the jailer placed a tin basin similar to the former one on the ledge, put a candle and a candlestick on the table and a tin cup beside them. "I thought there was no part of Russia where bribery was extinct," said the prince to himself as the door closed again for the night.

After supper Lermontoff again shifted his table, stood upon it, lit his candle and resumed his tunneling, working hard until after midnight. His progress was deplorably slow, and the spraying of the rock proved about as tiring a task as ever he had undertaken. His second basinful of solution was made a little stronger, but with out perceptible improvement in its effect. On ceasing operations for the night he found himself in a situation common to few prisoners—that of being embarrassed with riches. He possessed two basins and one of them must be concealed. Of course he might leave his working basin in the upper tunnel where it had rested when the jailer had brought in his supper, but he realized that at any moment the lantern's rays might strike its shining surface and so bring on an investigation of the upper tunnel, certain to prove the destruction of his whole scheme. A few minutes' thought, however, solved the problem admirably. He placed the basin face downward in the rapid stream, which swept it to the iron bars between the two cells, and there it lay quite concealed with the swift water rippling over it. This done, he flung off his clothes and got into bed, not awakening until the jailer and his assistant brought in bread, cheese and coffee for breakfast.

The next day he began to feel the inconveniences of the governor's friendship and wished he were safely back to the time when one loaf lasted four days, for if such were now the case he would be free of the constant state of tension which the ever recurring visits of the jailer caused. He feared that some day he might become so absorbed in his occupation that he would not hear the withdrawing of the bolt, and thus, as it were, be caught in the act.

Shortly after lunch the governor sent for him and asked many questions pertaining to the running of the dynamo. Lermontoff concealed his impatience and set about his instructions with exemplary earnestness. Russian text books on electricity at hand were of the most rudimentary description, and, although the governor could speak German, he could not read it, so the two volumes he possessed in that language were closed to him. Therefore John was compelled to begin at the very A B C of the science.

The governor, however, became so deeply interested that he momentarily forgot his caution, unlocked a door and took Lermontoff into a room which he saw was the armory and ammunition storehouse of the prison. On the floor of this chamber the governor pointed out a large battery of accumulators and asked what they were for. Lermontoff explained the purposes of the battery, meanwhile examining it thoroughly and finding that many of the cells had been all but ruined in transit through the falling away of the composition in the grids. Some thing like half of the accumulators, however, were intact and workable. These he uncoupled and brought into the dynamo room, where he showed the governor the process of charging. He saw in the storeroom a box containing incandescent lamps, coils of silk covered wire and other material that made his eyes glisten with delight. He spoke in German.

"If you will give me a coil of this wire, one or two of the lamps and an electric lamp, I must make the solution stronger, I think," he said, gravely disappointed at the outcome of his labors, and as he looked at it he heard the clank of the withdrawing bolts. Blowing out the candle, he sprang to the floor of the cell, picked up the table, set it down in the center of the room, groped for the chair and sat down, his heart palpitating wildly at the fear of discovery.

Followed as usual by the man with the lantern, the jailer came in, carrying a bowl of hot, steaming soup, which he placed on the table; then he took from his pocket a spoon, a small hunk of black bread and a piece of cheese. In the light of the lantern Lermontoff consulted his watch and found it was 6 o'clock. The jailer took the lantern from his assistant, held it high and looked round the room, while Lermontoff gazed at him in anxiety, wondering whether that brutal looking official suspected anything. Apparently he did not, but merely wished to satisfy himself that everything was in order, for he said more mildly than he had hitherto spoken:

"It is long time since any one occupied this cell."

Then his eyes rested on the vacant corner shelf.

"Ah, excellency," he continued, "pardon me. I have forgotten. I must bring you a basin."

"I'd rather you brought me a candle," said Lermontoff nonchalantly, although his lips were dry, and he moistened them as he spoke. Then, to learn whether money was valueless on the rock, as the governor had intimated, he drew from his pocket one of the remaining gold pieces, glad that he happened to have so many, and slipped it into the palm of the jailer's hand, whose fingers clutched it as eagerly as he were in St. Petersburg.

"I think a candle can be managed, excellency. Shall I bring a cup?"

"I wish you would."

The door was again locked and bolted, but before Lermontoff had finished his soup and bread and cheese it was accumulator, or, indeed, half a dozen of them I will trouble you no more for candles."

The governor did not reply at the moment, but a short time after asked Lermontoff in Russian how long it would be before the accumulators were charged. Lermontoff stated the time, and the governor told the jailer to bring the prisoner from the cell at that hour, and so dismissed his visitor.

One feature of this interview which pleased Lermontoff was that, however much the governor became absorbed in these lessons, he never allowed himself to remain alone with his prisoner.

It was evident that in his cooler moments the governor had instructed the jailer and his assistant to keep ever at the heels of the prince and always on the alert. Two huge revolvers were thrust underneath the belt of the jailer, and the lantern holder was similarly armed. Lermontoff was pleased with this, for if the governor had trusted him entirely, even though he demanded no verbal parole, it would have gone against his grain to strike down the chief, as he ruthlessly intended to do when the time was ripe for it, and in any case, he told himself, no matter how friendly the governor might be, he had the misfortune to stand between his prisoner and liberty.

Lermontoff was again taken from his cell about half an hour before the time he had named for the completion of his work, and the jailer was still at the door. Lermontoff now changed his working methods. He began each night as soon as he had finished dinner and worked till nearly morning, sleeping all day except when interrupted by the jailer. Jack, following the example of Robinson Crusoe, attempted to tie knots on the tall of time by cutting notches with his knife on the leg of the table, but most days he forgot to perform this operation and so his wooden almanac fell hopelessly out of gear. He estimated that he had been a little more than a week in prison when he heard by the clang of the bolt that the next cell was to have an occupant.

"I must prepare a welcome for him," he said, and so turned out the electric light at the end of the long, flexible wire. He had arranged a neat little switch of the accumulator, and so snapped the light on and off at his pleasure without the trouble of unscrewing the nuts which held in place one of the copper ends of the wire.

Going to the edge of the stream and lighting his candle, he placed the glass bulb in the current, paid out the flexible line attached to it and allowed the bulb to run the risk of being smashed against the iron bars of the passage, but the little globe negotiated the rapids without even a perceptible clink and came to rest in the bed of the torrent somewhere about the center of the next cell, tugging like a fish on a hook. Then Jack mounted the table, leaned into the upper tunnel and listened.

"I protest," Drummond cried, speaking loudly, as if the volume of sound would convey meaning to alien ears—"I protest against this as an outrage and demand my right of communication with the British ambassador."

Inspected.

BY BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

A suggestion to build a fill on Boyd street from Sixth street to the river, 400 feet long, to facilitate dumping garbage during high water, was taken up by the board of public works yesterday afternoon, but action was postponed, pending action on a suggestion that Mayor Yeiser will make the general council. Mayor Yeiser believes that garbage should be burned, and will recommend that a contract be awarded by the city for disposing of garbage in this way.

An order was issued directing the Home Telephone company to remove all "dead men" poles not in use, from the streets.

Contracts with Contractor George Katterjohn for sidewalks improvement were ratified.

Street Inspector Alonzo Elliott was directed to secure a written agreement with Mr. George Robertson, to stand half the expense of piping an alley between Harrison and Clay, Third and Fourth streets, to carry off surface water.

Street Inspector Elliott was directed to receive bids on a hydraulic jack.

A report from City Electrical Inspector McPherson regarding the erection of electric signs, was filed.

A report from City Engineer L. A. Washington, that the city sewerage piping did not run through Andrew Hall's property, was filed. Hall had threatened to sue for alleged damages.

Permits for electric signs, issued by President Wilhelm, were ratified.

Because of the approach of winter, which may interfere with concrete work, Contractor George Katterjohn was granted an extension of time until spring to finish Farley street, Tennessee street from Second street to Twelfth street, Ohio street from Third street to Twelfth street, and Eighth street from Washington street to Tennessee street. If possible, he is to work on these streets during the winter.

Supt. J. O. Keebler, of the city lighting plant, was directed to remove "dead men" poles from Franklin avenue.

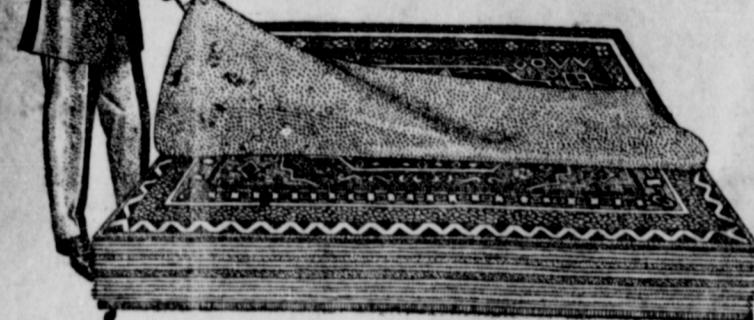

City Engineer Washington was directed to repair bad places in Fifth street from Jefferson street to Kentucky avenue, and charge the bill to bondsmen of E. C. Terrell.

FOREST RESERVE PLANS PROPOSED

Dr. Will to Speak Under Auspices of Womans Club.

Great Appalachian Park is Now Being Considered By Department of Government.

MOST IMPORTANT DISCUSSION

With a view of bringing as clearly as possible before the people of the south the vital importance to their well-being of the southern Appalachian question the American Forestry Association has arranged, with the co-operation of boards of trade and chambers of commerce, to send its secretary, Dr. Thomas Elmer Will, this fall to the leading cities of the south. It is believed that the best results can be obtained by organizing great public meetings, filling, where practicable, the largest halls and giving, through the press, the widest publicity to the matter discussed. Dr. Will is an educator and public speaker of many years' standing. He will carry with him a fine set of lantern slides with which, where a lantern and operator are provided, his lecture will be illustrated. It is hoped also, that he may meet and confer with the leading citizens regarding methods of promoting interest in the Appalachian question. It is desired that this tour may be made a notable one, and that it may exert an important influence in preserving the forests of the south and, with them, the vastly important interests, public and private, dependent thereupon. To this end the association solicits the co-operation of all public spirited citizens in the territory to be visited.

Dr. Will has been secured to speak in Paducah and will appear under the auspices of the civics department of the Woman's club and the forestry committee of the Commercial club, who are Mr. John S. Bleeker and Mr. Saunders A. Fowler. He will speak at the Woman's club house on the night of November 4 and the lecture will be entirely free. Dr. Will's coming to Paducah will be an opportunity for many "city beautiful" points, too, in regard to the trees for the parks, boulevards and streets, as he is the most notable authority on such matters that has come to our city. The president of the American Forestry Association is the Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, and the headquarters is Washington, D. C., famous for its civics and whose public parks are all in charge of Frederick Law Olmsted, the landscape artist.

WOODMEN

HAD BIG CELEBRATION AT THE FAIR GROUNDS YESTERDAY.

Fact, as Exclusively Told in The Sun, That Root Was Not Present, No Drawback.

Although the failure of Sovereign Commander Root to reach Paducah caused a great many of the visiting Woodmen to take the early train for home yesterday afternoon, a large crowd gathered at the fair grounds and was entertained with speeches by Hon. Wheeler Campbell and Sovereign Manager T. E. Patterson, of Tennessee. Other speakers, who were on the program, did not attend.

About 300 formed in the parade that marched from Jersey camp in Mechanicsburg to Ninth street and Broadway, and these were joined by others, who were at the fair grounds waiting for the speaking.

A telegram was read to the crowd explaining that Commander Root was sick in a Chicago hospital. Sovereign Bunker Shepard, who was also expected, telegraphed that he had failed to reach St. Louis in time to make the Paducah train.

Deal's band, which had been engaged to make music for the occasion, refused to play when it learned that the W. O. W. band would also march in the parade. The Woodmen band is composed of musicians, that do not belong to the Musicians' union.

The senator had publicly announced he was willing to do all he could to aid the district attorney in fighting graft.

Teachers will assist pupils in the program. The minstrel idea will be carried out to the letter. The show will be given in the High school auditorium.
